Stranger Than Fiction

Joe Jackson

Please mister, can't you help me try to find my baby's house
It's three in the morning in the pouring rain
I can't find the house and I forgot the number
But I gotta give her these roses to relieve her painDon't laugh, just tell me you've been there before
So we fight but we fight every evening
And I tell you every morning, I just love her moreAnd life goes on filled with disasters and friction
And life can be strange
But love can be stranger than fiction
Only love can be stranger than fictionExcuse me operator, tell me what time it is?
Me and my lover, been in bed all day
I think I strained a muscle, I didn't know I had
And tell me what day is it anywayDon't laugh, just tell me you hear what I say
I love her so much, I don't even know what planet I'm on Love her so much, I wish she'd just go awayLife goes on filled with bizarre contradictions
And life can be strange
But love can be stranger than fiction
Only love can be stranger than fictionI know that sometimes love goes
But sometimes it comes back to getcha
And when love grows
It grows like a flower or grows like a tumor
Love shows that God has a sense of humorYou know that life goes on, ever immune to prediction
And life can be strange
But love can be stranger than fiction
Only love can be stranger than fictionStranger than fiction
Stranger than fiction
