Tear drops from my eyes begin to fall
When I look around and recall
All the gifts given to me
And all of their beauty
When I think about the innocence
And all the things Iâ€™ve yet experienced
Got questions racin through my mind and i need some clarity

Behold, theres a brave nu world
Right before your eyes only you can see
Go through that open door
Only you can cross the line and find what you seek

Sometimes I feel so all alone
And so afraid
My own fear is keeping me from being free

And all the endless memories that I have gained
I surrender to my soul and I unleash the flame in my heart

On and on and on
On and on and on
On and on and on
