

Trade It All

Matt Cab

Oh

I was looking for the wrong things

Only thinking about myself

Put your heart up on a shelf

And now I'm standing in the spotlight

But it's such a lonely view

Without you I was blind, couldn't see you were good for me

You were here, all along, right in front of me

Too late to realize I would trade it all

If I could win your love

But I know it's not enough

I did you wrong

And now you're gone I would trade it all

If I could win your love

But I know it's not enough

I let you down

Now you're not around

I would trade it all I did it all for the glory

Too naïve to see the signs

I left our love behind

Now it's broken into pieces

Only fragments that remain

And I'm the one the blame I was blind, couldn't see you were good for me

You were here, all along, right in front of me

And now I've opened up my eyes I would trade it all

If I could win your love

But I know it's not enough

I did you wrong

And now you're gone I would trade it all

If I could win your love

But I know it's not enough

I let you down

Now you're not around

I would trade it all

You're the piece to the puzzle

That I'm always missing

Life ain't nothing but a struggle

And I can't seem to win

'Cause without you, I will play the fool

I'll continue on helplessly
To win back all your love
I would trade it all awayI would trade it all
If I could win your love
But I know it's not enough
I did you wrong
And now you're goneI would trade it all
If I could win your love
But I know it's not enough
I let you down
Now you're not around
I would trade it allI would trade it all
If I could win your love
But I know it's not enough
I did you wrong
And now you're goneI would trade it all
If I could win your love
But I know it's not enough
I let you down
Now you're not around
I would trade it all

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>