

X Y & Zee (Sensory Amplification)

Pop Will Eat Itself

I am he who is X, Y and Zee
I carry no card, my life is cheap
Have no worries, I do not fret
Some may have what I'm yet to get And you may wonder, "Is it how?"
A kitten may turn into a cow
With bells and horns
And tinned corned beef Forests, profits
Plastic High Streets
I am he who is A, B and Cee An easy option
Like twentieth century
Satisfaction guaranteed
It's easy Let's steal a spaceship
And head for the sun
And shoot the stars with
A lemonade ray gun Make a movie and
A TV show
You be Jane
I'm George Jetson I am you, you are me
X, Y, Zee to A, B, Cee
You, me, us
We are one From out our window
We can see
Electric sunshine
Oxygen factories Clockwork tides
Synthetic trees
Just like the real ones
On Vee Tee Mother nature and father time
Used to be good friends of mine
But now we've put them in a home
Filed them under, "Uses unknown" No pop, no style"
Is a phrase out of phase
To praise what's worthwhile
This is as good as it gets
This is the best Let's catch the last rays
Of civilization and tune-in to a
Sub-space station, turn up the DJ
Let's get lost in intergalactic
Punk rock, hip hop I am you, you are me
X, Y, Zee to A, B, Cee

You, me, us
We are one This is the time
The time of our lives
Escaping time
For the all time highs Of love, lust, laughter
That make us sweat
Let's stimulate
Sensory amplification This is PWEI-zation
This is this
It's the living end
"Je t'aime, encore, je t'aime" I am you, you are me
X, Y, Zee to A, B, Cee
You, me, us
We are one

Songwriters

Mansell Clinton Darryl; March Richard Paul; Crabb Graham Charles; Mole Adam Published by UNIVERSAL MUSIC-MGB SONGS Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnylyrics.com/>