

I Listen to the Rain

Beverley Craven

I listen to the rain, whispering your name
And hurricanes cloud my life again
The memory will fade and time will turn the page
Our love was made, I dream of yesterday
The fantasy is mine, it's you I long to find I close my eyes and dream that you are here tonight
Make believe you're crazy for me You turn your head to hide, I know the reason why
The moon we ride could drown the swelling tide
I call out from the shore, a siren from the sand
This lonely land I am forever more
The fantasy is mine, it's you I long to find I close my eyes and dream that you are here tonight
Make believe you're crazy for me
I close my eyes and dream that you are here tonight
I listen to the rain, whispering your name
Whispering your name
