

Petite Machine

Kashmir

I could sink to the bottom of you with a stone on a chain without breathing in I could tell you and tell you again that there is only one though many have been lie down fall in
pass out
while I'm wide awake
with the lights out
you're in safe hands
of that one man
who can fix his petite machine you're not lonely in seconds of doubt and the doubt is in me next to SHEER certainty back and forth as it always has been and ever will be as long as we're not in between lie down
fall in
pass out
while I'm wide awake
with the lights out
you're in safe hands
who can fix his petite machine
