

Subversion

Ikon

There used to be a way now it's gone
Suffer the weak suffer the strong
All I ever felt was so wrong
The choice I've made that's torn us apart Uncertain we wait the path unknown
The power of hate the power we're shown
And now it's too late for what's been done
Cry for the weak and cry for the strong I find it hard sometimes to keep my faith alive
This search my destiny will darkness follow me Awake from the storm we have grown
A shelter of grief a shelter of stone
My trust has betrayed all I know
No choice I've made an endless decay In sickness I watch all has been thrown Surrender dictate how can we know
Is it too late for what's been done
Call on the weak and call on the strong I find it hard sometimes I push my faith aside
The search what can it be now darkness follows me There must be a way that we have known
Strength for the weak more strength to the strong
No clouds of doubt will cover us all
Don't hide from the truth don't hide from the cold More certain I wait and all shall be known
The power of faith the power we're shown
It's not too late now it's done
No more are the weak all are the strong I found it hard sometimes I've kept my faith alive
I found my destiny no darkness follows me From: Subversion (Appolyon Version), This Quiet Earth, Subversion
(US Version) & Secrets Within by Chris McCarter & Dino Molinaro

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>