

Still My Baby

Tim Stop

What an evening, what a night how the sky burns red in the fading light and just how lucky can I be to have my whole world here lying next to me And I know that you know it but still let me say You're still my baby you're still my girl
you're still my baby and you always were It ain't easy, we can't always win and the other grass is as green as it's ever been but you stand by me, you stay strong and you're still the woman I wanted all along So let me remind you in case you forget You're still my baby you're still my girl
and you always were Everyday brings a brand new sunrise a chance to begin if I have my way I'll watch them by your side unless we sleep in You're still my baby...
