Love

Sam Ock

This love that reaches to my heart
feels so good don't want to break apart hold me close, don't let me fall away
i thank you for each and every day
this love that reaches to my heart
feels so good don't want to break apart
hold me close, don't let me fall away
i thank you for each and every daymorning time, rub your eyes and look around soak in all the beautiful sounds as you crack a window and hear all the forces of nature and the blending of a whole new atmosphere one question, reflection the number of mornings that you show appreciation 'cause you're alive here to see another day did you thank god for waking you up today to live life, and live to the fullest to show love, and love without limits live to love, and love to live are the simple keys to this life we've been given one life remains, go own it one love reigns grow in it and once you come to know the mercy of god we sing once you come to know the love of god we singthis love that reaches to my heart
feels so good don't want to break apart
hold me close, don't let me fall away
i thank you for each and every day
this love that reaches to my heart
feels so good don't want to break apart
hold me close, don't let me fall away i thank you for each and every daywhere do i start, lord how should i say this there's nothing better than the one that i came with you're my shining sun and you're the pouring rain oh god you took all the pain that was for me and should've been for me but you sent your son so graciously and i'll thank you each and every day for the blessings you've poured out my way i lay here full of sin, full of wrongs took your blessings to write you this song you sent me faith, sent me hope, sent me love and they're the three greatest things from above i'm giving you my life and everything i have and break my heart lord to do what you will i know it's gonna be hard but i'll listen 'cause it's love that i know is worth keepingi've been searching hard all day and all night looking for something that makes my soul feel right in this sinful world the hate won't stop so i gotta spread your love lord be my solid rock i admit god i take you for granted your love unchanging i just can't understand it the fact that you gave your son to die and how i still sin, it must kill you inside father help me to see what you saw all the pain and anguish when your son was nailed to the cross i want to know you, the lover of my soul jesus is the only one who makes me whole love is patient, it's kind, it's everything you are, without love, nothing's right to life say au revoir work through me, spread the word through sound share the love, shine the light, let your grace aboundthis love that reaches to my heart

feels so good don't want to break apart
hold me close, don't let me fall away
i thank you for each and every day
this love that reaches to my heart
feels so good don't want to break apart
hold me close, don't let me fall away
i thank you for each and every day

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/