287

Shotgun Rider

287 by Shotgun Rider

Quiet hearts and traffic signs, restless love and neon lights, running from all the things you said I should be. Took my time walking away never thought I'd see this place, but you don't mind either way.
But I've been thinking about leaving,
the things you left behind.
And I've been thinking about leaving,
so far you don't cross my mind,
don't cross my mind.

Brought a bible just in case
I slipped up and said your name, now it's sliding across the dash right in my way.
Took a chance and flipped a page, saw a reminder on that highway.
Closed my eyes and prayed "God rescue me"
but I've been thinking about leaving
the things you left behind
and I've been thinking about leaving
so far you don't cross my mind,
don't cross my mind.

Quiet hearts and traffic signs,
restless love & neon lights.
Running from all the things you said I should be.

Lyrics Submitted by elle_tav

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/