Lydia

Fur Patrol

I caught your perfect smile As I watched you sleep I saw your beautiful soul When I felt your heart beat Your body small your spirit deep What might have been Just makes me weep Lydia Where have you been? Dreams of you Washed up again It's the perfect time of day To be thinking of you The sun's going down And the sky's still blue When you're looking down Do you approve? 'Cause life downstairs Gets hard on you Lydia Where have you been? Dreams of you Washed up again Will you be gone forever? Where do I begin Your face in the moon Reminds me I will see you again
