Letter From A Thief

Chevelle

They know what everybody knows
Better sit, a letter from a thief says
Finally when everybody sleeps
So few ways to cover up the old wounds
Lost in a finger, forced to lie
This sends us medicating through it all
If you ever enter my mind
Stay there, you'll live
Defend it off and fool them all
Stay there
Faceless, so little there to judge
Left wing, let's separate the cold out
Opposites, we never need to tell
One sting I've found I'm having to, I'm having to
If you ever enter my mind
Stay there, you'll live
Defend it off and fool them all
Stay there, you'll live
Defend it off and fool them all
Solitude, waste of a man
This fades as soon as the sun sets
I now own this fatal role that lives
Imagine here's a better feel
Told to dissolve or choose to fade
Or stay here, you'll live
If you ever enter my mind
Stay there, you'll live
Defend it off and fool them all
Stay there, you'll live
If you ever enter my mind
Stay there, you'll live
Defend it off and fool them all
Stay there
