Abba Zabba

Fenix Tx

These nights, they, they go by slower and slower
I'm searching for the sun beneath the sheets
And I think I'm getting colder and older
While jealousy just gets the best of me
Take all this infatuation and envy
I never thought I'd be this way with you
Make your wish, blow out the candles
And I hope that every one of them comes true
And she said, "Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come"
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come
Don't praise me because I made it through Without any help from you, without anyone at all
Don't hate me because I didn't make the call
And I'll never take the fall
And she said, "Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come"
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come

Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come
