S.O.S.

Josh Osho

She's coming up the ladder
Sitting pretty high
Got everything that matters
Shacked up with Mr. right
Took every step with no mistakes
Ticked each and every list
One true definition of success
I know it would be this

But I'm seeing
I am seeing loneliness
I am reading you're not all that you suggest
So misleading, smiling in on happiness
I'm not preaching but when i stare I see we share
The same SOS

So many faces crowd around you
So many numbers on your phone
All these gifts and good will gestures
Yet you're standing on your own
You gaze at your reflection
You've worked so hard to design
And though the diamond sparkles
They never, oh they never seem to shine

But I'm seeing
I am seeing loneliness
I am reading you're not all that you suggest
So misleading, smiling in on happiness
I'm not preaching but when I stare I see we share
The same SOS

Ohhh but I'm seeing
I am seeing loneliness
I am reading you're not all that you suggest
So misleading, smiling in on happiness
I'm not preaching but when I stare, we share
An SOS
We share an SOS
And so misleading

Smiling in on happiness
I'm not preaching, but when I stare I see we share
The same SOS
