As Friends Fall

Until the End

an image of humanity twisted and broken down my pity quickly turns to hatred as i watch them fall to their knees controlled by a crutch you're broken - you're broken down i've seen you rise - i've seen you fall won't show remorse - it was your call but still i can't deny, i can't deny it hurts i remember how much it meant i remember just what you said there's no excuse for your abuse there's no rhyme for the line you feed us about growing up, can't hide this pride inside as i watch them slowly die your skin is tainted by your promises broken how can you live with yourself how can they live with themselves
how can you live with yourself
your theories of moderation a plan destined to fail now hateful words and insulting stares are used to justify their corruption
