Naked She Lay to the Virgin Snow

Cryptal Darkness

[Music and Lyrics: Oneil Alexander]Her dying embrace still haunts within through the blackest shade of nightfall her enchanting voice it whispers serenades a dark romance. . . yet never again fate so tragic is mine to keep forever will I miss her last dying kissAs the sun sets before my very eyes so lifeless she sleeps never to rise an erotic dream of a winters kiss so warm it melts like the snow in my handAn ebony tear sheds only for you beyond this sorrow deep within me a promise we made evermore I loved you and still I do"The light of our dying sun faded so long ago captured by this immense nightfall my sweet goddess. . . so pale so cold naked she lay to the virgin snow"Her dying embrace still haunts within through the blackest shade of nightfall
her enchanting voice it whispers serenades
a dark romance. . . yet never again
fate so tragic is mine to keep forever will I miss her last dying kissThe time we shared your virgin kiss and that of mine you took from me I surrender my everything to you then you gave your self to meUnder a sunless sky beyond the midnight hours to dance in the shadows while the sun sleeps I held you with affection in my weak arms I wish I never let you goAs I walk the path of this lonely journey dreamlike it rains sadness so endlessly awaiting the dusk to descend remembrance and my tears for you shall fall eternal. . .

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/