

Refuge

Argyle Park

Here it is, my life. My pain now lays before your feet. Listen to these words and do with them what you will, though I ask you to curse judgments fist and open your mind to my greatest fears. For this world has beaten me down, and I've shed more than my share of tears. So with that in mind I greet you into a reality of nothingness and bitter dark, and welcome you to my home of escape, my refuge, Argyle Park.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>