Hell Hath No Fury

Audrey Horne

Drop a line dear, leave a light, let me know when you go to sleep
I've been drifting outside your bedroom window, I'm cold and numb out here
I've been shaking, you stir up all my fears and rattle these fragile bones
No one is safe here, the rats have left the ship and we're all adrift at sea
Armed with your bare fists you started raising hell, and they looked at me and wondered who could tell
I need a savior, someone with an engine to get me out of here
You crossed the oceans, sank a ship or two, none left alive I heard
Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned hell hah no fury like you do
Armed with your bare fists you started raising hell, and they looked at me and wondered who could tell that you turned out to be a monster, a curse and a burden
But your distorted screams are making me feel ok
Drop a line dear, leave a light, let me know when you go to sleep
I've been drifting outside your bedroom window, I'm cold and numb out here
