Desperate

David Archuleta

Desperate, desperateYou're reaching out
And no one hears you cry
You're freaking out again
'Cause all your fears remind youAnother dream has come undone
You feel so small and lost
Like you're the only one
You wanna scream 'cause you're desperateYou want somebody, just anybody
To lay their hands on your soul tonight
You want a reason, to keep believin'
That someday you're gonna see the lightYou're in the dark
There's no one left to call
And sleep's your only friend
But even sleep can't hide youFrom all those tears
And all the pain and all the days
You wasted pushin' them away
It's your life, it's time you face itYou want somebody, just anybody
To lay their hands on your soul tonight
You want a reason to keep believin'
That someday you're gonna see the light
'Cause you're desperate, desperate
'Cause you're desperate and nowYou know that things have gotta change
You can't go back, you'll find your way
And day by day
You start to come aliveYou want somebody, just anybody
To bring some peace on your soul tonight
You want a reason, to keep believin'
That someday you're gonna see the lightYou want somebody, just anybody
To lay their hands on your soul tonight
You want a reason, to keep believin'
That someday you're gonna see the light
'Cause you're desperate, desperate'Cause you're desperate, tonight
Oh, desperate, so desperate tonight, tonight
Desperate, desperate

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/