

Hope Yr Happy

The Pretties

when we started out, it all seemed far too good to be true we need nothing else, you had me and i had you but then i fell apart and i hear that you're with someone new i hope she treats you good, you're an awful thing to lose everytime i walk by the diner, where we used to go i think about the way you would kiss me on the nose you and i were good, we were grey, we were doomed from the start cause i wasn't all mine to give, when i gave you my heart and i know it's too late to say sorry but i hope that you are happy now yeah i hope that you are happy now every now and then when i walk by your place i feel blue can't help but reminisce about the space shared with you i remember when it was too hard to sleep so instead we laid awake and talked all night long in your bed
but i hope you are happy now yeah i hope that you are happy now i hope you know that i still miss you you know that i'd still help you move i still think of you i might still love you but i know i'm gonna make it through
