Move On

Denver Harbor

Three thirty still waitin
This doubt with shadows fading
Leads tired eyes straight to the doorHer footsteps uneasy
Right to her knees she's pleading
But I woun't do this anymoreYou will never know
Don't ever show me where you've beenI should have known much better
No dream can last forever
Move on, move on
Wake up and I'll be goneI should have seen this coming
One trip and I was done in
Move on, move on wake up and I'll be goneThese words are misleading
A whisper almost screaming
The anger slowly takes it shapeHer lips say I'm sorry
Her eyes tell different stories
I can't believe another desperate word you sayYou will never know
Don't ever show me where you've beenI should have known much better
No dream can last forever
Move on, move on
Wake up and I'll be goneI should have seen this coming
One trip and I was done in
Move on, move on
Wake up and I'll be goneThis ship is going down
I'm jumping off before I drown
And at the bottom of the sea you'll be
Might be you, wont be meYou will never know
Don't ever show me where you've been
You just want to stay
I'll never play this game againI should have know much better
I should have seen this coming
And now I know much better
This one is gone forever
Move on, move on
Wake up and I'll be gone [4x]
Wake up and I'll be gone
