

You're Still Going To Lose

Kristina Train

People are talking, but I just hear voices
I know what I'm missing, but I'd rather just ignore it
Start out each morning full of good intentions
Watch how those people go home with happy endings
I keep on pretending...And then you give your heart to me
You give it up like it's free
And even though I love you, you're still gonna lose. TV is running, I never used to notice
It's not as hard as you might think, going through the motions
My world hardly ever changes, we'll have to take it slowly
Be care what you show me...And then you give your heart to me
You give it up like it's free
And even though I love you, you're still gonna lose.
You give so easily, all of it like it was free
And even though I love you, I don't want you to lose.
