Kill, Kill, Kill

The Pierces

What were you doing
In my dream last night, honey
Well, I thought I liked
That you're uptight, babyWell, it's a mystery to me
How you keep on slipping in my mind
And it's downright dirty
That this old wound won't heal with timeWell, you could wash my brain
You could tear out my heart
But I would never forget youYou could change my world
I could make a new start
But I would never forget youAnd it's kill, kill, killing me
And it's kill, kill, killing me
That I'm still in love with youJust when I think
I've got you in safe keeping
That's when your memory
It comes 'round creepingWell, it's an ache i can't shake
And it's creeped down deep into my core
But babe, I can't fake it
I can't take this heartbreak anymoreWell, you could wash my brain
You could tear out my heart
But I would never forget youYou could change my world
I could make a new start
But I would never forget youAnd it's kill, kill, killing me
And it's kill, kill, killing me
That I'm still in love with youI asked you please to leave my heart
But you refused to go
I can't take this pain much longer
You insist on teaching me what I already know
Absence made this heart grow fonder
