Time Stops

Submarien

A distant bell that won't stop ringing the long night won't defeat my soul every day i hear sweet hearts singing hold on till i reach that goal are the percepts by which i stand set in stone, solid rock, or just sand? there is more to learn than i aim for so much under the sun i should play for before i'm taken in before they take me in time stops when you find that feeling you're right back where it once begun watching the distances disappearing ice blocks in the midday sun need a new line a different plan got the whole of the day in my hands

there is more to learn than i've aimed for so much under the sun i should claim for before i'm taken in
before you take me in
