

If I Had No Songs

Mindy Gledhill

If I had no songs.
If my words were washed away and gone.
Like sand in the ocean.
I would choose to sing the beauty in a life of sweet simplicity.
That silence to speaks many things.
If I had no songs.

If my voice ran dry.
If all my better days had gone alright for no reason why.
I would choose to bring to weary souls,
the songs that only hearts can sing.
Iâ€™d face a falling world with wings.
If my voice ran dry.

Take away the life I love, and black out all the stars above.
I swear theres nothing you can do, to make me feel Iâ€™m not, you know.

Where the crowds have gone.
When the final curtain has been drawn.
Iâ€™ll run free straight into the arms that wait for me.
So far beyond this cove of things I know whereI give.

If I had no songs.
If I had no songs.
