

Cross Our Bones

Crown the Empire

Are we tangled in the static?
Are we echoes of ourselves?
Are we standing in the shadows
Waiting for angels? Does the whole world know? x2
That we've synthesized our souls.
Does the whole world know?
That the whole world's waiting for angels,
Waiting for angels. So here we stand in the mirror,
It's getting harder to see.
Colors start disappearing,
Did we forget how to bleed?
We cross our bones, For miracles.
And pray we get better,
They say we'll get better.
We fill the holes with chemicals,
They say we get better.
Who cares if we're never alive We cross our bones x2
Are we drifting in to silence,
Mesmerized but overwhelmed?
Have we made the heavens useless
Waiting for angels?
Enough!
Don't let the illusion have your heart! Does the whole world know, x2
That we've synthesized our souls?
Does the whole world know,
That the whole world's waiting for angels?
We cross our bones, For miracles.
And pray we get better,
They say we'll get better.
We fill the holes with chemicals,
They say we get better.
Who cares if we're never alive!

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>