Willingly

Vertical Horizon

When I was just just a young boy My mama said to me Don't fall in love willinglyNow that is all forgotten Unwilling memoryBut if you change your mind I will walk the line I'll follow willinglyWe used to talk about it But now it seems the wind has blown your way And I have come to doubt it That you and I will ever love again'Cause good enough is one thing That I will never be And I admit it all willinglyAnd now the times are changing The things I've seen before don't look the same My life is rearranging But falls apart with whispers of your nameAnd though I swear to love you With all sincerity I'll slowly fade away willinglyThe sun is on my shoulders Perhaps it's colder for I've lost some pride Or maybe it's the absence Of all the joy I felt right by your sideAnd when the storm was over I found your memory And I will hold it warm willingly
