

Central

Ohrwert

Im central to nowhere
Thinking of sweeping it clean
When we choose to go were losing more than just our surroundings
Ive gone around the sides of this universe as it stands
 Outside the limits of all existence
 Where light never ends
 We should be grateful to the gods
 Whoever theyre real to they are
 I value my placement as in Hell
 Remember that moment that I fell
 Anything that could one day be is as real as what Im saying
If something is nothing it must not be something in any possible way
 Lose yourself in the far off worlds that are right under your feet
 Switch below with above all the way up into infinity
 We should be thankful who we are
 Whether we know ourselves or not
 Walking alongside myself
 Neither of us listens very well
 Im dreading a time that is not near
 As a man on cross I have no fear
 I cant believe these words Im saying
 You gotta feel your lines
 You gotta feel your lines
