

Ashes and Embers

The Casket Girls waiting for the evening star waiting for the hand to move sitting here beside myself touching something blue isn't it a waste of time pretending there's a reason to play the part of someone who isn't you isn't it strange how it happens so slowly isn't it strange how it happens so fast doesn't it seem like you're living in a movie up until the moment

but it never lasts
holding my breath
i can breathe under water closing my eyes
i can see in the dark
isn't it strange
when you walk away easy
ashes and embers like a planetary ring like a magnet and metal pull it's the gravity of everything beautiful it's the sound of a sunday choir it's the serpent in a sea of green it's the burning of a city fire it's the ripping of a seam isn't it strange how it happens so slowly
