Tornado Warning

Pure Prairie League

I guess that you just have to know what it feels like
One of us keeps feeling so incomplete
Shiftin' directions like November blowing in the street
And turnin' and changin' and givin' up, arrangin'
The woman is the one I always needTornado warning
Came in this morning
Tornado warningWell, all my life I've expected only the best of things
Now I see your clouds and they are appearing
And these strange sensations have such an, oh, so familiar ring
Rain on the window and tears on my pillow
The wind in my mind keeps a-blowin'Tornado warning
Came in this morning
Tornado warningThe wind is blowing strong
We must hold on to wait another day, we must go onThis girl, oh, my gosh, looks like the one for me
I'm givin' up all my freedom, completely
This whirlwind that we've been livin' keeps us far apart
The changing, believing, it's not hard to love you
If I haven't forgotten where to startTornado warning
Came in this morning
Tornado warning
