

Circles

Tamar Braxton

[Tamar]

Take a look at myself in the mirror with these tears streaming down my face
Asking how did I let myself get here?
When I know.. I should have walked away
I'm sick of the same things over and over and over again with you
You drug my heart through the ground
Left it all battered and bruised
I'm done fighting this battle with you I can't keep going in circles
Circles, going in circles
Round and round and round with you I'm scared but I know what that caused
Leaves me with the deepest scars
Cut me open now I'm bleeding without no shine
Foolish of me to believe
Things would be different this time
Kept say I ain't tried but will just keep living a lie
I'm sick of the same things over and over and over again with you You drug my heart through the ground
Left it all battered and bruised
I'm done fighting this battle with you I can't keep going round in circles
Circles, going in circles
Round and round and round with you After all of the things we been true
Can't imagine myself without you
Take me through all these changes
And to share you what you just can't do
Taken all of my love for granted
Made me a fool
And I'm done with this breaking, I'm aching in circles with you You drug my heart through the ground
Left it all battered and bruised
I'm done fighting this battle with you I can't keep going in circles
Circles, going in circles
Round and round and round with you

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>