Knew We Were Trouble

Mr Hudson

The way you look at me, at me, at me
Could be in an old film in black and white
But your hair's too short and your jean's too tight
Maybe we should let them know
Maybe we should let them know
I just knew we were trouble when we first met
I just knew we were trouble when we first met
So long ago, it was so long ago
I just knew we were trouble when we first met
I just knew we were trouble when we first met
So long ago, it was so long ago
I watch you in the dark, in the dark, in the dark
The alarm clock light flash across your face
I wonder who one day's gonna take my place
I wrote another song for you, for you
I wrote another song for you, for you
Maybe we should let them know
Maybe we should let them know
I just knew we were trouble when we first met
I just knew we were trouble when we first met
So long ago, it was so long ago
I knew we were trouble when we first met
I just knew we were trouble when we first met
Was so long ago, it was so long ago
Reminding you, you better leave me alone
Just get with that boy down in Marylebone
The one with the skateboard and the baseball cap
And the mother in West London with a three bedroom flat
I'm just a boy from Birmingham
Another impostor on a major label roster
How did I get here? No fear, how did I get here?
No fear, how did I get here? No fear
So long ago, it was so long ago
I knew we were trouble when we first met
I just knew we were trouble when we first met
So long ago, it was so long ago
We were trouble when we first met
We were trouble when we first met
We were trouble when we first met

[Incomprehensible]We were trouble when we first met
We were trouble when we first met
[Incomprehensible]
