Babygirl

Scribe

I heard you got the news today Seems nothin' ever goes your way, oh, no Yesterday was a okay Now today you're feelin' like you're lost, oh And he say, she say She's too young, there's no way Not on her own But who cares what they say 'Cause no one can judge you at all It's not about who's right or who's wrong 'Cause you're not alone so Babygirl, take it one day at a time You can't just grow up overnight Babygirl, I know you're feelin' butterflies But everything will be alright Everything will be alright Now everybody seems to notice you 'Cause you're not really tryin' to hide a thing Sometimes you're cool, sometimes your mood swings No baggy shirts to hide the change, no shame Nobody to lie to, to pry with what's inside of you And he say, she say She's too grown, poor thing All on her own But who cares what they say 'Cause no one can judge you at all It's not who's right or who's wrong Girl, you're not alone Babygirl, take it one day at a time You can't just grow up overnight Babygirl, I know you're feelin' butterflies But everything will be alright Everything will be alright So when you're feelin' like life's too cold Don't lose faith, just move on Hold on baby, as it's worth the flight And everything's gonna be alright So when you're feelin' like life's too cold Don't lose faith, just be strong

Hold on baby, as it's worth the flight
And everything's gonna be alright
Babygirl, take it one day at a time
You can't just grow up overnight
Babygirl, I know you're feelin' butterflies
But everything will be alright
Everything will be alright
This song is dedicated to all the single parents
All you young girls strugglin', all on your own
You're courageous and beautiful
This song is for you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/