

Reaching

LaRue

I was built afraid, I share the blame
I was born with these inconsistencies You made me come alive
I can feel You inside
Your love's like a painted sky
Overwhelms me every time And I'm reaching for You
Arms stretched towards You
All these things I bring
And You pursue me and I surrender
Take, Lord, what You see Whatever the cost
I gained everything in loss
In the greatness of Your love
It compels me to give it up
