Send a Message From the Heart

Karmakanic

When the world of colors turns different shades of grey
Send a message from the heart
When there is no justice anywhere to be found
Turn around and face the sun
If you look around you and everyone is blind
Send a Message from the heartSometimes we're blind and cannot see How beautiful the world could be
If we just opened up the doors of freedomCause tenderness and time can heal
A battered heart, life revealed
Compassion leads your way in to the sun on you way to paradiseWalking the lane of solitude
The final Brake of day
A shadow cries for attention
In a corner of my eye
Looking out, letting in
Through the broken glass
I saw a trace, jaded face
Heaven in disguiseBeside the odd of prosperity
With eyes of love and peace
Watching the children passing by
This illusionary placeQuestions exists to be answered
Take the time to look away
From the borderlineIt's time for healing
It's time for trust
It's time for giving
It is time to be
Message are written on the walls
Message are written in the sand
Message are written out of tears
It's time to send a message from the heartSee the silver lining
Find the golden way
Hear the prayers of dying
Without turning the way
Walk the path of contradiction
Tumble when it turns
Be a leader with conviction
See the bridges burnThere's a choice of true salvation
Though the conscious mind
It's waiting there to be foundTime for contemplations
Take it from the start

Time for confrontation
Message from the heartTides are turning
Time is near
Tides are changing
Time is hereMessages are written out of blood
Messages create a giant flood
Messages too loud to be unheard
(Too loud, too loud to be unheard)
It's time to get a message from the heart
(Time to get a message from the heart)When the world is falling and digging in the dirt
Send a message from the heartWhen the sky has risen and it's waiting for the end of the Earth
Send a message from the heartSend a message from the heart
Send a message from the soulSend a message from the heart
Send a message from the soul
