I Know Who I Am

Leona Lewis

They say you never see it coming
All the tiny little breaks
But somewhere out beyond no reason
You keep on giving what it takesI never thought of running
I was busy carrying a load
Had the strength enough to take it
But not enough to let it goIt's a long time
Coming down a broken roadAnd finally I can feel without fearing
Cry without the pain
Stand up and love me
Or without any shameIt might have been a rough way learning
And a hard place to land
But the one thing I'm sure of now
Is I know who I amNow if somebody would have told me
There was a better place to be
In my quiet desperation
It was too hard to beliefI guess you gotta know the distance
To know just when enough's enough
Now let nobody take it from me
'Cause I know what I'm made ofAnd there's nothing I can rise aboveAnd finally I can feel without fearing
Cry without the pain
Stand up and love me
Or without any shameIt might have been a rough way learning
And a hard place to land
But the one thing I'm sure of now
Is I know who I amA woman who's more than I am
A woman's deserving whatever it is
I can take it whatever it takes
I can make it, yeahAnd finally I can feel without fearing
Cry without the pain
Stand up and love me
Or without any shameIt might have been a rough way learning
And a hard place to land
But the one thing I'm sure of now
Oh, and I absolutely have no doubt
Yeah, I know who I amYeah, I know who I am
I Know

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/