Don't Mistake Me

Keisha White

Life can push you,
It's all about just choosing the way,
Might sometimes rush you,
Leaves you looking for yesterday
So many reasons for looking for freedom
By living life and learning each day,
There'll always be questions
That stay left un-answered,
But I work it out all the way,
There's no time to grieve or feel sad about it
So left with only one thing to say
If you wanna see a broken heart,
Try looking in another place,
If you think it could be torn apart,
Try looking in another place
But don't mistake me for somebody
Who's hung up on you.
Love can steal you,
can hide the key and lock you away,
So many people don't ask the right questions,
There's always someone else there to blame,
There's no time to grieve or feel sad about it,
So left with only one thing to say
If you wanna see a broken heart,
Try looking in another place,
If you think it could be torn apart,
Try looking in another place
So don't mistake me for somebody don't you take me for anybody don't confuse me with nobody
Who's hung up on you
If you wanna see a broken heart,
Try looking in another place,
If you think it could be torn apart,
Try looking in another place

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/