

Delirious

Christofer Drew

I, I want you back. You've done a damn good job at making me see what I can't live without. And you, you're so unsure. You say you're pretty sure that you still believe in love and darling, I will help you believe. Just don't hate me for being honest.

Girl, you're making me delirious. These sudden feelings for you are so mysterious. This life of living is nothing but a dream. Take off your clothes and let me hold you while you sleep.

Girl, I know it sounds delirious. I think I'm falling in love for my experience. This love I'm sharing is not a desperate plea. Lets leave the country and explore the seven seas.

I hope you see what I see when I look at you. The colors of your spectrum blow my mind. You're so unsure. You say you're pretty sure that you think you're beautiful and darling, I will help you believe. Just don't hate me for being honest.

Girl, you're making me delirious. These sudden feelings for you are so mysterious. This life of living is nothing but a dream. Take off your clothes and let me hold you while you sleep.

Girl, I know it sounds delirious. I think I'm falling in love for my experience. This love I'm sharing is not a desperate plea. Lets leave the country and explore the seven seas.

Till morning comes and wipes these words away. Know that I'll be here; I promise to stay. Unless you say the word, I'll walk back out your door. It will be just like we never met. Just like before I loved you. I still do.

Girl, you're making me delirious. These sudden feelings for you are so mysterious. This life of living is nothing but a dream. Take off your clothes and let me hold you while you sleep.

Girl, I know it sounds delirious. I think I'm falling in love for my experience. This love I'm sharing is not a desperate plea. Lets leave the country and explore the seven seas.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>