State Your Peace

Hootie & The Blowfish

Why am I always the last one to say how I feel* Its like driving down the middle of the road with no hands on the wheel* And I keep hearing stories about a guy who was killed while he prayed* Well you should go ahead and say it because we're all gonna die anyway* State your peace going insane and I swear it can't get much worse*Make a piece of history* A blessing from a curse*You can try to be a hero but people keep dying everyday*You can keep earning money but your money keeps burning away*And it feels like the futures always waiting at the tip of my tongue* Like a cat holding back till its too late the damage is done*State your peace* Going in insane and I swear it couldnt get much worse* Make a piece of history a blessing from a curse...before it gets worse* You can try and change the world by showing everyone a better way* But the worlds gonna do what the worlds gonna do at the end of the day* State your peace going insane and I swear it can't get much worse*Make your peace with history, a blessing from a curse* State your peace* blow it wide open* Did you find you an oyster pearl* Make your peace with history*

you just might be the one who can change the world* Can you save the world* You can change the world

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/