

Something More

Train

I just opened up my eyes
And let the world come climbin' in
It's all better now, things are gonna work somehow
If I just sleep another hour Tried to reach you at your mom's
Hey baby why you're tryin' to keep away for so long
I stopped feelin' good, somehow I just knew I would
I guess I'll sleep another hour Feels like I'm wasting my time
Hangin' on this same old line
Got to get you off of my mind
There's nothing left for me to find And all the more I want, all the more I need
All the while you want something more
All the more I want, all the more I need
All the while you want something more Thought I've found words to say
Just to get you feelin' fine over heals my way
But it don't matter how I lost the word and nerve and now
There's nothin' more for me to say Feels like I'm wasting my time
Hangin' on this same old line
Nothing left for me to find And all the more I want, all the more I need
All the while you want something more
All the more I want, all the more I need
All the while you want something There's nothing left for me to say
I'm wantin' what I need this way
And when I'm feeling low I know
I need to stop Someday you'll see
That all the more you want, all the more you'll need me
All the while I'll be on to something more
And all the more you want, all the more you'll need me
All the while I want something more I want something more
I want something more than this
