

Big Dipper

Built to Spill

Once When I was little someone pointed out to me Some constellations but the big dipper's all I could see That brontasaurus must have stood a thousand miles high That brontasaurus laying on its side up in the sky Bottoms up and this time Won't you let me be? Bottled up but this time Won't you rescue me? You should have been here last night and heard what the big dipper said to me Jack thought it twice and thought that that that made it true Some brains just work that way that's what chemicals can do He thought he'd have a beer he thought he was alone He thought an Albertson's stir fry dinner would make his apartment a home Bottoms up and this time Bottled up but this time Won't you let me be? Won't you rescue me? You should have been here last night and heard what the big dipper said to me I thought I bored me but I learned to think like you Now nothing bores me that's that nothing is thought through Bottled up but this time Bottoms up and this time Won't you rescue me? Won't you let me be? It's all I can see Thought it out and this time You should have been here last night and heard what the big dipper said to me

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>