Sally

Sade

Sally, you opened out your arms to all those young men

And girl you had room for every one of them

You're the only girl on Barry and Third

Sure as hell you're the only one who caredSo put your hands together for Sally

She saved all those young men

Put your hands together for Sally

She's the one who cared for themShe's doing our dirty work

She's the only one who cares

Doing our dirty work

Thirsty world, one angry day in New YorkTake a look at Dave he was once seventeen

Zoot suit and shinny shoes, he ran around town

And threw his metholated laughter

Most of his memories drownedBut he remembers what his mommy used to shout

She used to shout, one day surely son

The streets are gonna tire you outSo put your hands together for Sally

She's the one who cared for him

Put your hands together for Sally

She was there when his luck was running thin She's doing our dirty work

She's the only one who cares

Doing our dirty work

Thirsty world, one angry day in New YorkTommy had a wife and family

But the needle came between the love and the hard times

Thank God for Sally, she was there through the misery

Just a place to lay his head, just about better off than deadShe's doing our dirty work

She's the only one who cares

Doing our dirty work

Thirsty world, one angry dayVince came up from the country

Couldn't even find himself a room

Thinking about his babies

That's further away than the moonWith no money but his pride in his pocket

There's really no way he can go home

There's a picture of his woman in his locket

Most of all he doesn't want to be alonePut your hands together for Sally

She's the one who cared for him

Put your hands together for Sally

She was there when his luck was running thin She's doing our dirty work

She's the only one who cares

Doing our dirty work

Thirsty world, one angry day in New York

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/