Another Lonely Night

Jean Shepard

Crying in the darkness cause I'm going through another lonely night
Waiting till the morning brings you home
Trying to believe you cause you say each time you're gonna treat me right
And I'll never spend another night alone
So I'll take another chance with you though I know exactly what you'll do
You'll be gone until the morning light leaving me another lonely night
[ac.guitar]
Every creaking sound I hear makes me sit up and cry out is that you
But the echo of my voice is all I hear
When I reach the point of giving up I hear your key unlocks the door
And the eyes that ask forgiveness the voice that says I love you seems sincere
So I'll take another chance with you...
So I'll take another chance with you...
