Things to Consider

The Stereo

i can't seem to make sense of this or my inferior defense set me up only then to knock me down i don't need anybody now so i won't let get to me
the view from which i see is nothing more than what i used to be on our way back from yesterday you are far too good anyway what i need is some time to get it right maybe i'll call you up tonight
so i won't let get to me
the view from which i see
is nothing more than what i used to be
and if we can't make it through no matter what you do
i'll always be here thinking of you oh the irony place your choke on me until i can't breathe dove in after you say it isn't true i don't know what i'll do
so i won't let get to me
the view from which i see
is nothing more than what i used to be
and if we can't make it through
no matter what you do
i'll always be here thinking of you
but i might just fall apart before we even start i guess that's how it goes with a broken heart

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/