

Ticking

Thorne Empire

The clock keeps on ticking,
And the time keeps on passing.
My friends lived across me,
And now they are passing.

Old friends, loyal friends!
Here's to you!
We shared each step,
Every moment of trouble.

Each moment of happiness.
We had nothing in life.
But, we fought like hell to survive.

This life is so swift,
It can be a terrible race.
We spent so much time playing foolish games,
Trying to make a name.

The clock keeps on ticking, tick - tock.
Before we knew it years went by.
And we have slowly drifted apart,
We have slowly drifted apart.

The clock keeps on ticking,
And the time keeps on passing.
My friends lived across me,
And now they are passing.
We keep on losing the once that we love.
Playing grown up games is pulling us apart.
Is pulling us apart.
