Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

I drown my girlfriend in her wishing well
I'm not afraid of afterlife hell
'Cuz I live it everyday, I live it everyday I lit a fire on my neighbors lawn
I don't know them, to me they were my pawns
'Cuz I live it everyday, I live it everyday I know it's not considered right the way I live my days and nights
I always thought I'd rather be considered lucky than good
I know it's not considered right and every days another fight
I always thought I'd rather be considered lucky, than good I buy my porn off the Internet
I get so much fucking junk mail, my only regret
'Cuz I live it everyday, I live it everyday I know it's not considered right the way I live my days and nights
I always thought I'd rather be considered lucky than good
I know it's not considered right and every days another fight
I always thought I'd rather be considered lucky Considered lucky, than good I know we don't think alike
You're always wrong, I'm always right
Acting no so secretly, you wanna be just like me I know it's not considered right the way I live my days and nights
I always thought I'd rather be considered lucky than good
I know it's not considered right and every days another fight
I always thought I'd rather be considered lucky I know it's not considered right the way I live my days and nights
I always thought I'd rather be considered lucky than good
I know it's not considered right and every days another fight
I always thought I'd rather be considered lucky Considered lucky, considered lucky, than good
