Beautiful Words

The Afters

Slow down, this is such a blur
Tell me what's the hurry now
Have we been running round in circles
Missing all that we could be?
You say it's not too lateWe are words on pages that weve left unturned
An ending no one's ever heard
We are a story slowly unfolding
Beautiful wordsI could walk across the ocean
With you walking next to me
And you could melt away this winter
Now we're starting over
We will see it's not too lateWe are words on pages that weve left unturned
An ending no one's ever heard
We are a story slowly unfolding
Beautiful wordsThat last when everything else has passed
Even when all the stars are gone
I know every single beautiful word
That we were will live onI know it's not too lateWe are words on pages that we've left unturned
An ending no one's ever heard
We are a story slowly unfolding
Beautiful words
We are a story slowly unfolding
