

Mercy, Severity

Mudvayne

We've come here from so far away
I can save you if you leave it all behind
This suffering's been far too long
Would you take a trip with me on the back of a star?
I feel like earth's gravity is just here to pull us down
Mother of creation wait
Embrace the souls of a lost world carry them away
Darkness, negative, receptive
Pour firmament between our waters, separate the space
Mother of destruction wait
With a belt of skulls, strap me down and send the ship away
Progress with the process
Mine the souls from their casts, pour form and reshape
This dark womb wraps and covets me
Redefining, understanding if you open up the heart
Nurturing this phenomenon
We can carry you on our wings, our wings through the dark
Lightning flashes from inside
Into the mirth of a dark sky
Pain of division is nothing
Joy of dissolution is everything
Mother of creation wait
Embrace the souls of a lost world carry them away
Darkness, negative, receptive
Pour firmament between our waters, separate the space
Mother of destruction wait
With a belt of skulls, strap me down and send the ship away
Progress with the process
Mine the souls from their casts, pour form and reshape
Portal sits deep within the eye
The eye of yin's severity, redefines understanding
Portal sits deep within the eye
The eye of yin's severity, redefines understanding
Blackness, consumes
Body comforts core of nothing
Blackness, consumes
Body comforts core of nothing
Mother, I can remember
A vault of security
Won't you take me away?
Would you take me away?
Won't you take me away? Away
Mother of creation wait
Embrace the souls of a lost world carry them away
Darkness, negative, receptive
Pour firmament between our waters, separate the space
Mother of destruction wait
With a belt of skulls, strap me down and send the ship away
Progress with the process
Mine the souls from their casts, pour form and reshape

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>