

I Won't Forget You

Alec Benjamin

When all you can do
Is turn back around
Walk over your footprints
To what you've already found
And call through the pieces
That you left on the ground Cause everything is there but it's too close and it's too much
It's not the fear of letting go but it's the fear of losing love
And that's just how the story goes as you watch a life and fall
Now what you have is you had and now it's gone you're on you're own And every time I try to walk away
It's right there
A channeling impulsive through my veins
Brings me there
For every little thing that we do you know I can't forget I can't forget it's you
No I won't forget you No I never wanted
To live things like this
I pulled up these walls
So you can see in
But inside I'm dying oh
I wanna let you in And every time I try to walk away
It's right there
A channeling impulsive through my veins
Brings me there
For every little thing that we do you know I can't forget I can't forget it's you
No I won't forget you, I won't
I wont forget you, I wont No I wont forget you
Just slow down just slow down
Just slow down just slow down
Slow down and hold on And every time I try to walk away
It's right there
A channeling impulsive through my veins
Brings me there
For every little thing that we do you know I can't forget I can't forget it's you
No I won't forget you
