Sleepwalking

Avantasia

Wandering (before) into nowhere
just another winter's night and I don't feel gravity anymore
You never lie never cry
never talk beyond of dreams and the dream is what remains Tell me don't you see what ain't there when you look into the mirror you're stumbling away like a candle burning down Miles away, miles away
You've been cutting of the rope
Letting go I'm losing ground
And I wonder who's to blame
As I sleepwalk in the rain
It's now
Victory over gravity

And I sleepwalk in the rain
Winter sky, far and white Caving in on you and me
Like the (bridle) wall, the emerald room
The hall of fame and dying dreams
The love we've tried for, petrified
I wanna know, does the frozen river flow?
And I wonder who's to blame
As I sleepwalk in the rain
It's now
Victory over gravity
And I wonder who's to blame
As I sleepwalk in the rain
It's
Victory over gravity
I
As I
